WICHE's Regional Student Exchange Program Celebrates 60 Years

As the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) celebrates its 60th year, so does WICHE's Student Exchange Program (www.wiche.edu/sep). Western states formed the Western Regional Education Compact in the early 1950s to share higher education resources. WICHE's Professional Student Exchange Program (PSEP) was created out of this alliance. In its first year – 1953 – PSEP enrolled 48 students in three fields: allopathic medicine, dentistry, and veterinary medicine. The students hailed from five WICHE states: Arizona, Montana, New Mexico, Oregon, and Wyoming and enrolled at Colorado State University's College of Veterinary Medicine, the University of Colorado Denver's School of Medicine, and Oregon Health Science University's School of Dentistry.

PSEP, and the two exchanges created in subsequent years, the Western Regional Graduate Program (WRGP) and the Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE), have experienced phenomenal growth. An estimated 133,000 students have benefited from WICHE's undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs over the past 60 years. To date, WICHE's student exchange alumni could fill an average football stadium twice!

The program has significantly helped Western states build workforces and strengthen their economies. It allows institutions in the region to maximize their resources by filling available capacity and reduce unnecessary duplication of programs. As a result critical, highly specialized programs remain robust, and all participating programs can attract the best and brightest students in the region and bring diverse perspectives into the classroom. Our regional partnerships help facilitate the creation of programs in emerging fields, such as robotics, data science and business analytics, biometrics, and homeland security and disaster management.

The map to the left illustrates how regional education exchanges such as WICHE's remain a critical tool in growing an educated workforce, particularly in the West, where some states are growing quickly while others have shrinking populations. Helping students migrate between states that face differing enrollment challenges provides a flexible, state-responsive solution.

Through the Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE), the Western Regional Graduate Program (WRGP), and PSEP – some 35,600 residents of 15 Western states and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands are currently enrolled at reduced levels of tuition in a variety of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs.[1] This year WUE helped almost 34,000 students and their families save an estimated $264.7 million by paying 150 percent of resident tuition, instead of the full nonresident rate at 154 participating WUE institutions. In fall 2013, more than 1,130 master's, doctoral, and graduate certificate students enrolled in programs of study through WRGP have saved an estimated $15.9 million. They pay resident tuition, instead of nonresident, and can choose from 314 participating programs at 56 institutions. Finally, some 660 students paid significantly reduced tuition while preparing for their professional degree in 10 healthcare professions while enrolled through WICHE's PSEP.

Western Undergraduate Exchange Celebrates Its 25th Anniversary

The Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE; www.wiche.edu/wue), is a regional tuition-reciprocity agreement that enables students from WICHE states to enroll in participating two- and four-year public institutions at 150 percent of the enrolling institution's resident tuition. The multilateral exchange has been operating for 25 years and is the largest program of its kind in the nation. In 2013-14 more than 33,800 WUE students and their families saved more than $264.7 million in tuition costs. Since the first exchanges began in 1988, WUE has provided WICHE students and their parents with discounts on almost 394,000 annual tuition bills – saving them, overall, more than $2.2 billion.

Residents of WICHE member states can choose from 154 participating WUE institutions. 2013 was a banner year for new institutions joining the WUE network. They include California State University, Northridge; California State University, San Marcos; University of California, Merced; Colorado Mountain College; Northern Marianas College; University of Hawai'i West O'ahu; Spokane Community College; Spokane Falls College; and, Washington State University Tri-cities. In addition, Colorado's Adams State University rejoined WUE.

To learn more about the wide array of programs available at WUE institutions, consult our searchable database, located at www.wiche.edu/wue. For additional details, follow the links to receiving institutions' WUE profiles and websites.
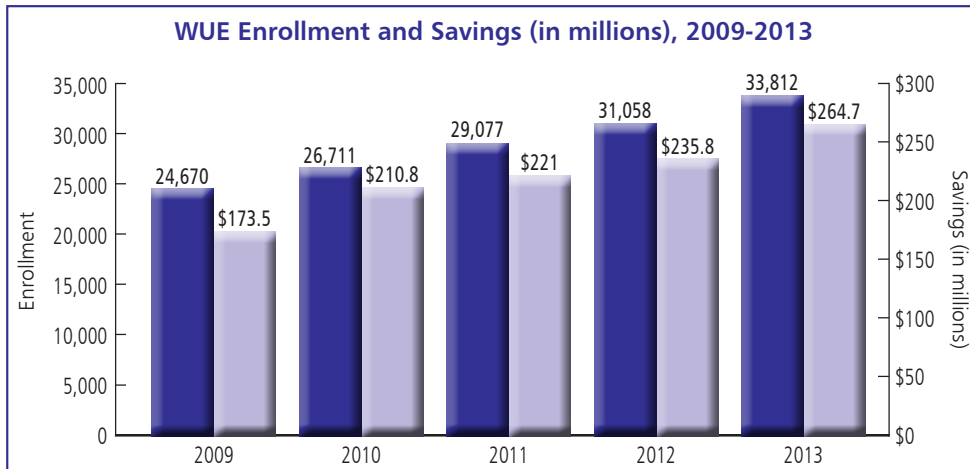

> "WUE is much more than just an affordable college experience. WUE challenges me academically by setting guidelines to keep my discounted tuition. It also keeps me on track to graduate within four years. The higher academic standards required of WUE students motivate us to reach our goals."
> – Camden, Hawai'i resident, Class of 2015, University of Colorado Denver, Pre-Med

> "When I decided to pursue a career in audiology, I knew I was going to have to go out of state for school because there are no programs in Alaska. Even though I had no doubts that this was the right choice for me, I was not sure how the finances would work out. It wasn't until I received notice about WUE that I knew I was going to be able to afford school. WUE has been a huge blessing, and I am extremely grateful. It's given me the chance to get the education I need so that someday I can return home and provide medical services to the people in my home state. Thank you!"

WUE As a Tool to Help Participating Institutions Achieve Their Enrollment Goals

WICHE encourages nonparticipating institutions to consider joining the WUE network to meet their recruitment and enrollment goals. Institutions, with the guidance of their state higher education agencies, have significant latitude in the way they can use WUE. Our WUE partner institutions formulate admissions policies that work best for them and their state workforce, but also benefit enrolled students and their families from elsewhere in the West.

A WICHE survey of participating institutions showed that the majority of institutions make all or most of their majors available at the WUE rate. Two commonly excluded programs are nursing and dental hygiene, due to high demand by in-state residents. About 20 percent of institutions use WUE as a merit scholarship but more than half automatically award the discounted rate to applicants from a WICHE state. Most WUE institutions offer the discounted rate to transfer students. Institutions like WUE because they can attract high-caliber students, maximize their student housing capacity, increase student diversity, and give students an affordable education in their major. For students, WUE is especially important when their program of study is not offered in their home state.

Whether your institution is currently participating in WUE or just considering it, we encourage you to read the WUE FAQ for institutions (www.wiche.edu/info/publications/wueFAQ.pdf), as well as "Student Migration: Relief Valve for State Enrollment and Demographic Pressures" www.wiche.edu/info/publications/PIStudent_Migration.pdf), which explains the policy logic behind WUE and other regional tuition reciprocity programs.

What's Trending in WUE Student Enrollment

The Fall 2013 WUE enrollments mirror trends similar to last year's. WUE students' top majors continue to align well with some of the West's most crucial workforce needs that include healthcare, the biological and biomedical sciences, engineering, and business.

Nursing – at institutions that offer it at the WUE rate – is among the most popular healthcare majors. The allied health professions are also a favorite. These include physical therapy, occupational therapy, radiology, respiratory therapy, nuclear medical technology, audiology, and clinical laboratory science. Dental hygiene, healthcare administration, and healthcare information technology are also popular. Students also use WUE to complete their undergraduate degrees to advance to the professional level as physicians, dentists, pharmacists, and veterinarians.

Biological and biomedical science majors targeted by WUE students include biochemistry, biotechnology, genetics, microbiology, botany, zoology, and marine biology. Engineering majors of interest to WUE students include specialties in biomedical, chemical, civil, computer, electrical, mechanical, mining and mineral, nuclear, petroleum, industrial, geological and geophysical, and electrical engineering. Finally, WUE enrollment in business majors is also strong. WUE students are seeking degrees in accounting, business administration and management, finance, hospitality and hotel administration, human resource management, construction management, and international business.

Detailed WUE enrollment reports are available on WICHE's website. State higher education offices may also request custom CIP-code-based reports to find out which out-of-state programs their residents are seeking through WUE, as well as which of their state's programs attract the most WUE students. To request these custom reports, contact our office at 303.541.0214 or info-sep@wiche.edu.

"$40,000 - imagine how much you could do with that! Over four years, my WUE scholarship will have saved me about that much in tuition! WUE took a huge load off my already "full-of-debt" mind. It allows me to spend less time worrying and more time studying what I love and enjoying college. Thank you!"

– Claire, Hawai'i resident, Class of 2014, Colorado State University, Equine Science

"I was not going to attend a university because tuition and fees were just too expensive. WUE gave me access to a less expensive education and an experience that I will always take with me. I am a first-generation college student and my family is proud. Thank you WUE! "

– Tara, California resident, Class of 2013, Northern Arizona University, Psychology

"I've wanted to study in Montana since high school, but out-of-state tuition made that difficult. When my family learned about the WUE program a lot of the burden was taken away. It also acts as an additional motivator to do my best in my classes, to keep up my GPA so that I remain qualified for the WUE discount. I am very indebted for the opportunity I have been given by WUE."

– Brenna, Washington resident, Class of 2016, University of Montana Western, Mathematics Education

"The California Maritime Academy is one of seven maritime academies and the only one on the West Coast. It offers very distinct and focused disciplines of study. I was interested in political science, international relations, and ocean security when I was looking at colleges as a senior in high school. Cal Maritime had a program that met all my interests and rolled into one four-year program! I thought I couldn't afford to attend because of the high out-of-state tuition costs. Luckily, I was awarded the WUE discount and that made it feasible. I encourage our Western legislators to continue supporting WICHE student exchange programs to help students who can't get their major in their home state. Without WICHE I would not be a cadet at Cal Maritime, receiving a degree in global studies and maritime affairs."

"I've always known I wanted to study marine biology but that's difficult in my land-locked home state. I began looking at schools on the West Coast and fell in love with Western Washington University. The WUE program allowed me to turn down full-ride scholarships from local universities and study what I was passionate about in the Pacific Northwest, without burdening my parents too much. At Western I'm getting hands-on experience through engaging labs, studying in a university-owned marine center, and going on study abroad trips to learn about tropical marine biology in Mexico!"

"Without WUE I wouldn't have been able to study out of state. Although my parents make good money, they have yet to send my younger sister and brother through college, a factor that FAFSA and financial aid formulas do not often recognize. WUE allowed me to live my dream of studying in Colorado without racking up huge amounts of debt. WUE has been a tremendous help financially. Thank you!"
